

CONFIRMED.
The United States Senate on Monday confirmed the nomination of F. T. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, as Secretary of State. He has been twice United States Senator and is a public man of ability. He is a son of the Frelinghuysen who ran for Vice President on the Henry Clay ticket in 1844.

The President seems to be in no hurry about making a new Cabinet, and his wisdom seems with general approval.

The eastern span of the trestle bridge of the North Missouri Railroad over the Missouri River at St. Charles, Mo., gave way Thursday evening of last week, under the weight of freight train No. 12, consisting of an engine, thirteen cars loaded with live stock, eighteen cars of dead freight, and a caboose. The engine was the first to fall, the cars piling on top of it. Three of the six men on the train when it started over the bridge accompanied it on its wild leap of sixty-five feet into the river channel. That two of them escaped to tell their awful experience seems a miracle. Two of the six men are accounted for, and one is missing—Jack Kirkley, the engineer—who stuck to his post.

A similar accident occurred at this bridge in October, 1879, and inspected after the disaster. The reason that bridges are always inspected after in steel of before falling is not known to the traveling public, but they are well acquainted with the fact. Perhaps the state railroad commissioners find it easier to agree upon a report made under such circumstances. When one span of a bridge is found in the water instead of on the piers where it belongs, it tends to harmonize opinions that the structure was unsafe.

COL. JOHN W. FORNEY died in Philadelphia Friday at the age of 64. He was for many years a conspicuous figure in Pennsylvania politics. In his early life he was a Democrat, and the protégé of James Buchanan. Soon after the latter's election to the Presidency, however, he espoused the cause of Stephen A. Douglass, and when in 1851 the war of secession began he allied himself heartily with the Union party, and afterwards with the Republican party. He was elected clerk of the House of Representatives by the Democrats in December, 1857, and held the position until March, 1857. On the 15th of July, 1861, he was chosen Secretary of the Senate, in which capacity he served until June 4th, 1868, when he resigned for personal reasons. He founded the Philadelphia Press in 1856 as a Democratic organ, but in a few years converted it into a staunch Republican journal. He retained control of the Press until a few years ago. Early in the war he started the Washington Chronicle, and conducted it for several years. He was a writer of great ability and force, and a fluent speaker. He was a man of warm personal attachments, and of kindly and generous nature. His life was full of sacrifices for the advancement of others. He was a friend to many both in and out of politics, and now that he is no more, there are few who can truthfully say a word against him.

To Whom it Concerns.
Strangers with teams and vehicles, often heavily laden, passing through this town and going eastward, for lack of any finger board to direct them, naturally proceed as far as Mr. Blumhardt's fence and then turn down the alley between that fence and the town line. After going along through this almost impassable alley they come up square against a gate and then know they are on the wrong road. With great difficulty they turn back and return along the road to inquire how they may get out of town. About half of the strangers going through in this direction meet with this difficulty. All this has been going on for years and might be obviated if a finger board was placed on the right side to those going east and at the right place. There is a direction board in Mr. Stuckey's lot, on the left side, placed exactly where no one will see it. A very little attention on the part of the proper officers would put an end to this great annoyance to strangers who pass through town on their way east. The slightest regard to the Golden Rule, "Do as you would be done by" would cause the placing of a plain guide board at the right place. When those who pass along with heavy loads, or at night find themselves in this trap, it becomes a grave trouble to them.

I hope that this omission of a plain duty may never have to be commented on again. Could those whose duty it is to attend to this be for one day, or some days, placed where the writer is and witness what takes place there would be no delay.

ALL OVER THE COUNTY.

Forbes.
—Health in this neighborhood is good.
—The new store building is ready for occupation, and will be occupied by Wilson & Scott.
—Our enterprising merchant, John Ross, is having quite a large quantity of wood hauled to this place.
—Miss Mollie Devore, who has been visiting at this place, has returned to her home, near Forest City.

Mound City.
—The public school is in successful operation, it numbers indicate success.
—The season for surprise parties—who will be the first victim? Be watchful that you may not be taken unawares.
—Tuesday morning was one of great commotion. Cause explained at the depot, as a jolly party left for St. Joe to attend the opera and hear Miss Kellogg.
—The death of Mrs. Thompson, sister of Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Cranford, was very unexpected to her friends, although she had been very ill for several weeks.
—Mrs. Nind, of the Woman's Mission, preached on Sunday at the Methodist church, both morning and evening. At both services the church was crowded and many could not find seats.

Lake Shore.
—Wheat sowing still continues.
—Rev. J. H. Nobles is conducting a series of meetings at Kelso.
—Mr. Penny recently lost two valuable horses by the disease known as "pink-eye."
—Mr. Shroder, a very clever gentleman of Sabal, Kansas, is visiting friends near Bigelow.
—The personal property of James Riggs, deceased, was sold at public auction Thursday, Dec. 1.
—Mr. J. W. Haigler has sold a fine piece of timber to parties in Rufo, Kansas, where it will be made into lumber.
—Rev. Davis, preached at the M. E. Church, South, last Sunday. He is a young man of noble appearance, and of bright intellect, calculated to do much good.

Forest City.
—Charles Graves spent Thanksgiving at home.
—Grandpa Nies came to see Georgia last Sunday.
—Mrs. Dug Baldwin is visiting her parents in St. Joe.
—Miss Laura Willis is on our streets again, after a few days illness.
—The meetings still continue under the guidance of Rev. Mr. Davis.
—Will E. Minton and wife are deep in the mysteries of house-keeping.
—Miss Julia Luckhardt, sister of Louis Luckhardt, was in the city last week.
—Mr. Colvin is visiting his sister, Mrs. Tom Collins, whom he had not seen for 17 years.
—Miss Kittie Canon, of Mound City, sister of Mrs. L. H. Luckhardt, was visiting here last week.
—George McKinney, Jr., spent Sunday in our place again. He will go to St. Joe in the future.
—Several went from here to attend the opera on Tuesday evening, among the number, Will Minton and wife and George Baldwin and Mrs. Perkins.

Kimsey.
—Sid Morgan is in Southern Iowa, building a residence on his Iowa farm.
—Charlie Finn continues to grow. Present weight, 224. He will be a double man in a few days.
—Our friend, C. Heran and lady, have returned from Southeast Nebraska. Mr. Heran has sold his farm there.
—P. P. Rose has left us. We notice that a cloak of sorrow is seen on the blooming countenances of some of our ladies.
—This is the worst year for chills we ever knew. There is no less than 15 persons inside of a circle of four miles suffering from chills.
—Class, Noland, and Frank Murray are the "boss" horse traders up here. They have in stock more raw-hide than any tan-yard in the country.

On the banks of the rolling Kinsey, Set a cypress hat in thought; Their eyes in anguish sparkle, They're reaching the same thought.
Behind the barn a lurking, Was brother thinking hard; With wild eye bent on mischief, He strikes across the yard.
Then something near that couple With misty fragrance fell; The beam turned high in mid-air, Then left with startled yell.
O hush that younger brother, Who pelted meeting ladies; For straightway others started And told his awful joke.

Bigelow.
—Where, O where, is our little town board?
—John Caten bought hogs here last week at $5.30 per hundred.
—Judge Long will soon take charge of the postoffice at this place.
—Capt. Lucas was among us last week buying fat cows. Cap. looks like he was being well wintered.
—Dr. Hunt was able to be out last Saturday. The Dr. tells us, that ten of his family have been down with malaria at one time.
—We understand that there will be no sale of Charles Mann's effects, as the heirs are all of age, and will settle among themselves.
—At the public sales of James Riggs' and Elias Penny's estates, stock of all kinds sold well, notwithstanding the scarcity of feed in the country.
—Ralph Lewis, son of R. P. Lewis, has been very ill with diphtheria, but is now recovering rapidly. Several cases of diphtheria, reported in the country near town.

—Your correspondent has been out of his box for the past week or two, taking in the whole, the comets and other natural curiosities. Saw Squire Bentley also on our way.
—Conrad Lease visited our town last week buying furs. He is on the Missouri river now, trapping for beaver. He reports the capture of eight of these animals on his last expedition.
—Where is Bigelow?
Where lakes spread out on every hand, Where rough grass grows and rushes grow, Where roads are built without a road, There stands the town of Bigelow.
Where the snow creek joins the Tarkio, Where little fish swim to and fro, Where ducks and geese are all the go, There stands the town of Bigelow.

Burr Oak.
—Nice weather.
—Corn about all gathered.
—Ask Minton how the apple goes.
—Sinclair children still shaking with theague.
—Pennys, of Penny lake, are moving to old man Lunsford's at the ferry.
—Wonder how W. S. Lunsford likes the boy teacher by this time?
—Mrs. Randolph, of Tarkio, is visiting friends in and around Rufo, Neb.
—Wonder what Mr. Angden thought about half past 5 o'clock p. m., last Friday?
—We wish that Rev. Williamson and D. S. Alkire, of Idle Wilda and Walnut Grove, would give us a nice little spelling school.
—Following is a summary of Burr Oak school, J. C. Hopper, teacher, for the first term beginning Sept. 5th, and ending Nov. 24th:
—Our literary society at Idle Wilda will be held every other Thursday night at Walnut Grove. Come on, a good time is anticipated.
Length of term, 3 months; No. of days taught, 60; No. of pupils enrolled: Males, 30; females, 24; No. of days attendance of pupils attending each day, 22 7-12; average number of days attendance by each pupil, 27 4-24.

Forest City.
—L. P. Martin is engaged at the lumber mill here.
—O. C. Plummer is digging a well for his lumber mill.
—The pink-eye has appeared among the horses at this place.
—Joe Groves is preparing to ship corn from the north to this place.
—The protracted meeting at the M. E. church is still in progress.
—F. X. Riser, of Ansonia, is in town looking after some logs bought here last winter.
—Holt county has furnished another minister for St. Joe, in the person of Rev. John Anderson, of the M. E. Church South.

—Cain, Miller & Glass shipped two car loads of hogs from here on Tuesday night last. They also shipped one load from Forbes at the same time.
—Geo. Howard, Supt. of telegraph lines on the K. C. road, with his gang, was in town Tuesday night. He is passing over the road in a hand car, repairing all injuries to the line.
—Some of the farmers who are refusing to sell their corn with the hope that the necessities of the people will soon force them to pay much higher than the price now offered, will find themselves occupying a more odious position, when it is all over, than that of a miser.

—Asher Lease and Miss Mary Sieffler were married on the 17th inst at the residence of the bride's parents in Forest City, by Elder Williamson. The bridegroom is an industrious young citizen of this town, and a son of Tobias Lease, who by careful management and saving his surplus earnings, has within the last two years become the owner of forty acres of land near town and a house and lot in town. His course is worthy of imitation by the young men now growing up in this and other communities. There are other forties of land and other houses and lots, or lots to build on, that can be bought cheaply now, and a few dollars saved from time to time will secure them. How many will do so in the next two years, instead of squandering their time and money in idleness or foolishly?

Time! Time!
Gentle reader, did you ever pause to think about the flight of time. How it flies and passes away. Did it ever occur to you that the present is all the time that you can claim? What has passed has gone forever, and the future you may never enjoy. Now, you should employ the present for a good purpose, and it is important to have correct time. Numerous are the instances of great disappointment in life by being behind time; how often has been the cry, too late! We might refer to many instances of this kind, but on this occasion will refer to but one. A few years ago, there was a piece of property for sale, at a very low price; two gentlemen desired to purchase it; the first party stated the exact hour of time he would buy; the second party made application, and was told that the first applicant had the first chance, up to a certain hour, but in case he failed to come at said hour, the chance would be open to the second party. At the appointed hour the second party made his appearance on time and bought the property and in fifteen minutes after the appointed hour, the first party put in an appearance, but the property was gone. The property sold at an advance of $800 in a short time. A good price for correct time. We will just say, if you wish to avoid disappointment, go to Hershberger & Anderson at Oregon, and they will show you the most complete stock of CLOCKS to be found anywhere. Just received from the factory. Fully warranted to give satisfaction. Prices reasonable. One man eighteen miles from this place, purchased a clock at this house, and stated he saved four dollars and fifty cents. You are invited to call on this firm.

Visit the Schools.
Directors have you legally fulfilled the duties of your office? Did you visit the school when it commenced and encourage and strengthen the teacher by your presence? Have you been there since? The school law says "It shall be the duty of the directors to visit the schools under their care." Have you done so? Will you wait until some difficulty arises between teacher and pupil or patron, which may require that you be called in; thus verifying a saying among old teachers, "that it is an indication of trouble in a school to see directors visit it." Do not wait for an occasion of that nature; visit the school immediately, and in a body officially. If you can say anything encouraging for the teacher and pupils, do not neglect to do so publicly before the school. You have no idea of the prestige it will give teacher and pupils. Parents, visit the school. See whether the teacher is a faithful workman or a shirk; whether he is inspiring your children to a love of industry and probability, or training them, by bad management, to a hatred of labor and honest exertion; whether they are learning to love knowledge and virtue, or to hate them; whether by school influence their habits are improving or degenerating. How will you know unless you visit the schools? Go with your children to school. Spend at least a half day there, and go often. Your children will feel that you are interested in their welfare, and it will beget in them a pride and love for school. If any difficulty arises between your child and the teacher, in which you think the child has not received justice, go at once, personally to the teacher. The matter will be more amicably adjusted than by opening a correspondence with him, for which he has neither time nor inclination, and which if persisted in would only make matters worse. All who have any interest in our schools, would manifest it by their occasional appearance in the school room. E. L.

—A woman's advice is generally worth having; so, if you are in any trouble, tell your mother or your wife or your sister all about it. Be assured that light will flash upon your darkness. Women are too commonly judged verdant in all but purely womanish affairs. No philosophical student of the sex thus judges them. Their intuitions or insight are most subtle, and if they cannot see a cat in the meal there is no cat there. I advise a man to keep none of his affairs from his wife. Many a home has been saved and many a fortune retrieved by a man's confidence in his wife. Woman is far more a seer and a prophet than man, if she be given a fair chance. As a general rule the wives confide the minutest of their plans and thoughts to their husbands. Why not reciprocate, if but for the pleasure of meeting confidence with confidence? The men who succeed best in life are those who make confidants of their wives.

All of lots 3 and 4 in block 12 in the original town of Craig.
All lying and being in said county and State of Missouri; and I will on SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1882,
between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the Court House door in the city of Oregon, county of Holt aforesaid, sell the same, or so much thereof as may be required at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash in hand, to satisfy said execution and costs.

W. H. FRAME,
Sheriff of Holt County.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue and authority of a special execution issued from the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of Holt county, Mo., returnable at the January term, 1882, of said court, and to me directed in favor of Jno. F. Thatcher, and against Joel Heister,
I have levied upon and seized all the right, title, interest and claim of the defendant, of, in and to the following described real estate, to-wit:
All of lots 7 and 8, in block 8, in the Western addition to the town of Oregon.
All lying and being in said county and State of Missouri; and I will on SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1882,
between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the Court House door in the city of Oregon, county of Holt aforesaid, sell the same, or so much thereof as may be required at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash in hand, to satisfy said execution and costs.
